TO FURNISH POWER IN COAL FIELDS

Advent of New York Concern Marks Era of Prosperity for Bluefield.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Roanoke, Va., January 5.—The New River Power and Development Company, a $10,000,000 concern, with headquarters in New York City, has secured an option on the plant, good-will, lighting and street car system at Bluefield, as well as the franchise of the Bluestone Traction Company. The option will not expire for ninety days. This information, which comes from a reliable source, means that the year 1911 will see the dawn of an entirely new era of prosperity for Bluefield, and that section, as well as the long looked for trolley line into the coal field, which will connect all the mining villages between Gary, Welch and other points with Bluefield, which will have an up-to-date interurban line. It will also mean that the villages in the field will have a chance to secure electricity from this new concern, while all the coal companies which are favorably inclined may also secure electric power from the monster company which will establish substations in the field at various points, so that all the mines may be served. The engineers of the new company have been at work on the station about a year, and have gone into every phase of the proposition from an electrical engineering standpoint, and the result of their observations has been the option. It is said to be the object of the new concern to develop power from the New River, which will be transmitted to Bluefield, and possibly to Roanoke.

The street car plan will be separate from the electrical plan, although both will work to a certain extent in conjunction.

About eighteen or twenty years ago Walter Graham organized the Graham Bluefield Electric Light and Power Company. This company had a great deal of difficulty, but continued to grow to the point where the possibilities of a larger plant were readily seen. It was later absorbed by the East River Electric Light Company. The street car part of the present company grew out of the belief of John Walters and others that a street car line between Graham and Bluefield would pay, with the Bluefield and Hinton Street Railway Company. It was confidently expected that the road would reach out to Hinton, Va., and the promoters always did believe it, although they found it costly. They were not enthusiastic to spend their money on a future road.

In 1903 the Bluefield and Hinton Electric Railway Company and the East River Electric Light Company were consolidated under the name of the Bluefield Traction Company, the name which that company is known by at present. The company later constructed a branch out to South Bluefield and made a large number of improvements.

News of South Richmond

South Richmond Bureau.
The Times-Dispatch.
1103 Hull Street.

A peculiar condition of affairs developed yesterday, when it was found that the jailer of Chesterfield county had given away the diminutive prisoner named Edwin Hale for a Christmas present.

Edwin Hale, who is about ten years old, is one of the two colored boys freed several weeks ago by Magistrate Jacob of Oak Grove court on the charge of attempting to poison the Randall family with Paris green an infantile criminal to the reformatory, the magistrate offered to let them go if any one could be found who was willing to take them and be responsible for their good behavior.

The Thomas boy was taken by a farmer of Chesterfield, but it looked for a time as if Hale was going to be sent to the reformatory until he reached the age of twenty-one in default of finding a guardian for him. An account of the predicament, published in the papers, touched the heart of Mrs. C. Goodloe, of Verdon, Va., and she began a correspondence with Magistrate Cheatham with the view of taking young Hale into her home.

But when Mr. Goodloe arrived in South Richmond yesterday morning, after having come all the way from Verdon, in Orange county, for the purpose of taking the little chap back with him to Mrs. Goodloe, he was greeted by the announcement that the boy had been given by the jailer Christmas morning to Mrs. Green, of Chesterfield county.

Nothing in the affair was legally wrong, according to Squire Cheatham, as the jailer had been told by the court that it was desired to find a good home for the little boy, and the jailer did his duty. Consequently there is nothing that can be done by the authorities to take the Christmas present back again and send it to Mrs. Goodloe.

Both boys had pleasant faces, and it was the general opinion after the trial that they did not realize the deadly power of the drug they used in the food.

More Land Acquired.
The city has just acquired more land adjoining the Washington Ward High School, that is to become a part of the school lot.

The deed turning over the property to the city of Richmond was recorded yesterday in the office of the clerk of the Hustings Court, Part 2. The lot, described as fronting sixty-six feet on the south line of Bainbridge Street, between Tenth and Eleventh Streets, was made over to the city for the reformation of $1,320.

The former owners of the plot were Miss Annie M. Branch and Miss Fannie M. Newbill.

In Oak Grove Court.
Several cases postponed from last court day will be heard in the Oak Grove Courthouse this morning before Magistrate Cheatham.

David Jones, formerly of Roanoke, but now living in Richmond, is to appear to answer the charge of being drunk and disorderly on the Petersburg car. Jones was released on bond of $15, and when last seen was loudly asserting that he would not come to be tried. The result remains to be seen after the case is called this morning.

John Baugh, the redoubtable colored middleweight champion, is to be on hand to answer the charge of beating his respected mother-in-law a bit too roughly.

It is reported that John will prosecute as evidence the fact that the iron with which his mother-in-law precipitated the conflict. Although John obtained possession of the fast iron he scorned to use anything but his fists, and what he did to her was a plenty. John has already graced Squire Cheatham's court on the past on the charge of beating his wife.

William Bowie, the colored man suspected of entering and robbing the home of William Wiley, colored, on the night of December 19, will be tried on that charge. His case was postponed from last Friday in order to allow the State to collect more evidence in confirmation of the charge.

Arrested by Officer Jarrell up in Swansboro Wednesday night for fighting, Chris Jones and Willie Blank—who are brothers-in-law—were brought before Magistrate Cheatham yesterday morning on the charge of being drunk and disorderly. The case was set for trial at 11 o'clock this morning. The justice fined each of the men $2.50 and costs, which was paid and the matter finished.

Funeral of Miss Howe.
The funeral of Miss Alta Howe, who died Wednesday night at her home in Woodland Heights, will be conducted this morning at 11 o'clock from the residence. The interment will be made in Maury Cemetery.

Everybody Fined.
The three men and four women caught in a raid in South Richmond Wednesday night were each fined $5 and costs by Justice Maurice in the Police Court, Part 2, yesterday morning. Some of the penalties were settled on the spot and the others were wiped off before nightfall.

For stamping James Michaels in the mouth in return for alleged insults, Harvey Adams was fined $2.50 and costs in the Police Court, Part 2, yesterday morning. Justice Maurice could not see that the remarks which caused the outbreak were vilifying or insulting, and the man who was so free with his "mit" was stung.

To Meet This Afternoon.
In order to discuss ways and means of increasing the building fund of the Swansboro Educational Association and to raise enough money to purchase a piano for the public school, the members of the association will assemble in the public school building in Swansboro this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Other business of importance is expected to be brought to the attention of the association, and a large attendance is earnestly desired. The plan for the swelling of the building fund will be pressed with increased vigor by the association, and all possible will be done to collect the money necessary to give Swansboro a new and larger school building.

Lodge Meetings.
Henderson Lodge of Odd-Fellows met last night in their hall, corner of Eighth and Hull Streets, for the purpose of installing the officers elected for the ensuing term. The installation exercises were under the charge of District Deputy G. W. Blankenship, of Petersburg.

Davis Council, Junior Order of United American Mechanics, met last night at 8 o'clock in their hall at the corner of Eighth and Hull Streets, for the purpose of installing the officers already elected for the ensuing term. The installation exercises were under the charge of District Deputy G. W. Blankenship, of Petersburg.

It is expected that the December term of the Hustings Court, Part 2, will come to an end to-morrow, unless something unforeseen happens. The grand jury term will begin on January 16, and a large criminal and civil docket has been prepared for that term.
